KILLED DEER ON THE OPENING DAY

Hunters Go out on Opening Day for Squirrels and Pheasants and Kill Fine Large Buck. Officers Fail to Capture Guilty Persons.

The illegal killing of a fine two pronged buck marked the opening day of the hunting season in Adams County. Though local officers and State Police scoured the region near Orrtanna, in which the carcass was found, there is no trace of the guilty party. The deer was donated to the County Home. Shortly before noon on Wednesday residents of the section above Orrtanna came upon the warm carcass of the buck, a well formed animal which weighed about 125 pounds. The entrails had been removed and the persons concerned in the killing were evidently making all preparations for its removal when they heard some one approaching and retired. The location of the find was on the road from Orrtanna to the Mont Alto Sanitarium and about one-fourth of a mile to the side of the public highway.

From Nagle's Store word was immediately telephoned to Sheriff Thompson and the supposition was that some time during the night the people who had killed the deer would return for it. Accordingly Sheriff Thompson and Chief of Police Shealer went up in an automobile and watched until ten o'clock for the hunters. No one appeared and they returned home bringing with them the deer. The trip was made in the Sheriff's automobile.

As soon as Mr. Thompson received word of the affair from Nagle's Store he notified the State Game Commission at Harrisburg of the occurrence and they instructed him to donate the carcass to the County Home. This was done this morning. The State Police at work on the mountain were also instructed by the State Game Commission to get on the case and they will endeavor to apprehend the persons implicated. The deer was hit with two loads of number six shot, both loads striking the animal in the left side. The condition of the woods showed that the deer had been dragged about two hundred yards before the "sportsmen" abandoned it.

GET LICENSES

Adams County Couple Take Out License on Fair Week.

Among the twenty four couples securing licenses to wed in Hagerstown on Wednesday was one from Adams County, Guy Albert Keller, of McKnightstown, and Miss Mary Anna Carbaugh, of Tillie. The number of Fair Week weddings in the Maryland town is increasing every year.

Sheriff Snively, Constable Rowland and a number of deputies rounded up the largest and toughest looking crowd—16 in all—ever gathered on the fair grounds Tuesday night. All were given a hearing, who recommended them for a further hearing on Saturday.

Among the oldest visitors to the Hagerstown Fair this year is Joseph R. Winter, better known as Indian Dick, of Chambersburg, who lacks just two years of being a century old. Mr. Winter, who is a descendant of the Ocopee Tribe of Indians, despite his many years, is as straight as an arrow and has a distinguished appearance, which is more marked by long, white hair about his dark-skinned face.

ADVANCEMENT FOR COLLEGE

President Granville Outlines Plans for Further Development, New Buildings and Addition to Prep. Must Go Forward.

The further development of Gettysburg College and the addition, in the very near future, of much needed improvements have been outlined by President Granville and will be presented at the mid-winter meeting of the Board of Trustees in Harrisburg the latter part of December.

A library building, a Y. M. C. A. building, a new gymnasium and dormitory are greatly needed, but the absolute necessities at this time are declared to be a science hall to take care of general science work, a machine shop located west of the heating plant on the railroad, for the engineering courses, and the erection of a main building for the Preparatory Department facing Carlisle street and so placed that the present building (Stevens Hall) will become a rear addition to it.

This is to provide a kitchen and a dining hall as well as a new recitation and dormitory rooms. The idea is to bring the Preparatory Department up-to-date so that it can successfully compete with similar schools in the territory.

The cost of all these improvements will not be less than $125,000 and ground should be broken for at least some of these additions not later than the fall of 1914, according to the present plans.

As the Physics Department would be housed in the new science building it is proposed to give the quarters now occupied by this department in Glatfelter Hall to the new engineering department. It may be possible to move the present Chemical Laboratory down to the railroad tracks back of the steam plant and utilize it as the main part of the machine shop. In that case the present site of the Chemical Laboratory could be utilized for the new Science Hall.

President Granville has received the following letter from President Sparks of Pennsylvania State College:

"Let me compliment Pennsylvania College on the foot ball team she sent here last Saturday. Not only was the low score a credit against a larger institution, but the conduct of the men was a matter of pride. I chanced to be very near the players during a part of the game and the absence of profanity and vulgarity, the freedom from foul playing, and the good bearing of your team so impressed me that I am in fully bound to commend them to you. Long may Gettysburg set such an example to show critics of athletics that men can play a good hard game of foot ball without ceasing to be true American gentlemen."

LOSES FOUR FINGERS

Albert Dillman Has Serious Accident in Planing Mill.

Albert Dillman, of South Washington street, met with a very painful and serious accident on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock when he had the misfortune to get his left hand in a jointer at the planing mill of G. W. Stallsmith on Franklin street. All four fingers were cut off at the palm of the hand.

Mr. Dillman, who has been working at the mill for a number of years, was always a careful workman and the accident Wednesday is attributed to the fact that the piece of wood with which he was working was thin and very hard, necessitating its being held very tightly against the knives of the machine. The injured man was taken home immediately after the accident and the disabled member was dressed.

MUCH BUSINESS OF THE SYNOD

Boards Elected and Other Business Transacted by West Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod. Memorial Services for Four Ministers.

Hearing reports of the work of the past year and mapping out the plans for the coming twelve months continue to occupy the time of the ministers and laymen here in attendance on the sessions of the Lutheran West Pennsylvania Synod.

On Wednesday the following were elected as members of the Educational Committee for a term of three years, Rev. J. B. Baker, Gettysburg; Rev. J. J. Hill, Littlestown; and William E. Reddig, of Shippensburg.

These trustees were chosen to the Tressler Orphans' Home at Loysville, Dr. O. C. Roth, Chambersburg; George E. Neff, Esq., York; Alvin R. Nissly, Hanover.

Four ministers of the Synod have died during the past year and memorial services were held on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. George W. Nicely, of Hanover, read the obituary of Dr. Charles M. Stock; Rev. Albert Bell, of York, the obituary of Rev. E. Lenhart; Rev. H. B. Stock, of Carlisle, the obituary of Rev. A. H. Sherts, of Chambersburg; and Rev. S. E. Smith, of Idaville, the obituary of Rev. William S. Poor, of Penbrooke.

In the evening there was a special laymen's service in the main auditorium and addresses were made by C. H. Kutz, of Carlisle, and P. A. Elssesser, of York. Afterward a social hour was spent in the basement of the church where there were short speeches and refreshments were served.

This morning the Synod heard the report of Gettysburg College from Dr. Granville who told of past successes and future plans and then the Ministerium went into executive session.

The ordination services will be held this evening and the sermon will be preached by Rev. George N. Lauffer, of Newville, whose subject will be "Furnished Completely."

WILL TAKE CARE WITH SO DAN HON

Chinese Secret Societies in Trouble on Account of Hop Lee's Testimony. Will be Dangerous to Take Son Across Country.

To deliver So Ho Dan Hon, Hop Lee's son who was smuggled into the United States several years ago, to the immigration authorities at San Francisco for deportation is an unwelcome as well as a risky task to be handed some deputy United States marshal within the next two weeks.

Both the father and son in confessing to the smuggling have violated the rules of the society of smugglers and in so doing made public certain secrets which may mean the elimination of every member of the society now in the United States.

Revenge for giving away the secrets may be aimed at the son. For this reason the United States marshal's deputy must move westward with his prisoner cautiously and with no person knowing his route outside of himself and the United States inspectors and marshals who will be on the watch at every station to prevent any attempt to kidnap the prisoner.

The young Chinaman, who is a son of Hop Lee, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal J. W. Snyder, of Harrisburg, and Officer Emmons, of Gettysburg, about five weeks ago. Evidence secured by Charles V. Mallet, a United States inspector, showed that So Ho Dan Hon, alias Dan Horn, alias Soo Hoo Din Horn, through the aid of a society of smugglers in San Francisco, and at a great expense to Hop Lee, the father, was admitted to the United States through misrepresentations.

Following a hearing at Gettysburg four weeks ago papers were sent to Washington, D. C., and now notice has been received to deport So Ho Dan Hon.

THE ROAD ARGUMENT

Local Interest in Failure to Pay over Automobile Licenses.

Much interest has arisen locally in the argument over the legality of the use of automobile license money for the work of the State Highway Department.

Auditor General A. W. Powell on Wednesday filed an answer to the mandamus proceeding brought against him to show cause why he should not make payment to the Highway Department of money received from the automobile license and alleges that the suit cannot stand because automobiles are still being licensed under the acts of 1909 and 1911 and that the act of 1913, under which the requisition was drawn, does not become effective until January 1, 1914.

For this reason he says that there is no money in hand with which to make payment if he was empowered to do so. It is further stated by the Auditor General that the clause of the automobile license act making the revenue therefrom payable to the Highway Department for road work is contrary to the act of 1909, known as the Specific Appropriations act. This is the point upon which the suit will hinge.

SULZER GUILTY ON 1ST ARTICLE

Convicted of Making False Statement of Campaign Fund.

THE VOTE WAS 39 TO 18

The Impeachment Court Decided That Peck Perjury Charge Should Remain In Case.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—According to seemingly accurate information from the impeachment court, whose final deliberations are secret, Governor William Sulzer was found guilty of having made a false statement of campaign contributions, the charge set forth in article 1.

The seven other articles are yet to be voted on. The reported vote was 39 to 18. The two-thirds required for conviction is 38. A change of two votes would have saved the governor.

Four court of appeals judges are said to have voted not guilty—Chief Justice Cullen, Willard Bartlett, William E. Werner and Emery A. Chase.

There was no separate ballot as to the validity of impeachment articles 1, 2 and 6.

The court decided that article 4 was broad enough to cover the Peck testimony in the trial of William Sulzer.

The court decided that it was unnecessary to amend the article or to ask the assembly to draw a new one. No mention was made of the Morgenstau testimony in the opinion of the court, which was read by Judge Cullen.

Peck's testimony was that Sulzer had told him to deny contribution under oath.

This cleared the decks for consideration of the motion of counsel for the defense to strike out articles one, two and six of the impeachment charges, on the ground that they related to offenses committed before the governor took office. The court immediately went into secret session again for this purpose.

The decision of the court not to send the Peck-Morgenstau testimony to the assembly for a new article has caused gloom among Governor Sulzer's friends, who had looked upon the proposed action as favorable to their side of the case.

The court's decision was reached after a long debate. Presiding Judge Cullen said, as soon as newspaper men were admitted into the senate chamber:

"Gentlemen, the court announces that the application to amend the articles of impeachment has been denied, and the court has decided that article 4 is broad enough to permit consideration of the Peck instance as a basis of a substantive charge."

A rumor that an injunction had been served on the state treasury to prevent him from paying the judges their $37.50 per diem salaries caused a flurry in the capitol. Inquiry developed that some voter who was not in accord with the proceedings had written a letter to a state official demanding such action.

MAY IMPEACH GOV. BREWER

Enemies of Mississippi Executive Charge Him With Misconduct. Jackson, Miss., Oct. 16.—Political enemies of Governor Earl Brewer are conspiring to bring impeachment proceedings against him, according to his friends here.

A big political fight has been precipitated by the publication in a Texas paper of a charge that Governor Brewer carried to Europe a woman of questionable character.

It is alleged that Lieutenant Governor Theodore G. Bilbo, Mayor S. J. Taylor, of Jackson; several state senators and representatives and C. R. Boyce, of Memphis, are behind the movement to impeach the governor. Boyce was involved in a cotton deal criticised by Governor Brewer.

Brewer's friends assert that the "plot" is the result of his activity in sending several prominent men to the penitentiary for grafting. The woman Brewer is charged with having taken to Europe with him lives in Memphis.

Held Prisoner by Mortar.

Pleasantdale, N. J., Oct. 16.—While working on the roof of a barn here, Angelo Martucci a mason's helper, lost his footing and fell from the roof into a mortar bed eighteen inches deep. Both his ankles were sprained and he could not rise. He yelled for help, but none came. Several hours later Martucci was dug from the hardened mortar with a pick.

Smallest Woman In Iowa Dead.

Albion, Iowa, Oct. 16.—Miss Ruthie Howes, who is dead here at the age of sixty-six years, was reputed to have been the smallest perfectly formed woman in Iowa. She was thirty-seven inches tall and weighed sixty pounds. Miss Howes was a remarkably beautiful and attractive woman. She was a school teacher and a musician of considerable ability.

Commander of Grosser Kurfuerst, a Big Factor in Rescue Work.

The Grosser Kurfuerst, commanded by Captain M. Spagenberg, almost from the time of her arrival at the side of the burning Voltorno, took a leading part in the rescue work. She picked up 105 survivors, including twenty-three members of the crew. She lowered a steam pinnace, which made numerous trips in the night, picking up passengers who leaped from the Voltorno. Thirty-two are said to have been rescued in this way.

FIRE SWEEPS HEART OF MAHANOEY CITY

Theatre, Business Places and Residences Destroyed.

Mahanoe City, Pa., Oct. 16.—Fire in the heart of the town caused a loss estimated at $250,000.

The Kaier Opera House, on the corner of Main and Water streets, and a number of business places were destroyed.

The Kaier estate alone will suffer a loss of at least $150,000. Its buildings destroyed are: The Kaier Opera House, $75,000; saloon and dwelling of Leo Valenetti; saloon and dwelling of John Glahn.

The other losers are: J. A. Kelly, Philip Demar, dwelling; James Carr, cigar dealer; H. B. Brown, green grocer; and dwelling; James Carr, dwelling; Mrs. Ward, residence; James Ryan, residence; E. W. Smith, residence; Vincent Coogan, dwelling; John Fisher, dwelling; Mary Bastian, dwelling; J. A. Kelly, Opera House cafe; Glen Jackson, manager of the Opera House, all on Main street.

On Pine street: George Carter, dwelling; Thomas Oswald, dwelling; Whitfield Guscott, dwelling; Jacob Wertz, dwelling.

On Water street: Frank Bastian, wheelwright and smithy; George Carter, smithy. These buildings were all crushed beneath the falling walls of the Opera House.

A loud explosion gave first notice of the fire in the opera house, and flames were found to be eating through the material in the fly balcony.

The entire fire department of the city was called, but its efforts were ineffective. High winds fanned the flames and they spread through the structure and soon it was a furnace.

Three of the walls fell, the rear wall crushing the frame wheelwright shop and smithy. A side wall crumbled next, shattering the rear end of a frame dwelling. Then the front wall fell.

The Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron office building checked the flames. Three companies of the Shenandoah fire department came early to aid. Two collieries near the city suspended operations and workmen with mine fire fighting apparatus lent valuable assistance.

90 DIED IN FIRE ON THE VOLTORNO

Trapped in Compartment When Explosion Occurred.

SURVIVORS AT NEW YORK

Some of the Burning Steamer's Stokers Became Panic-Stricken and Were Driven Back to Work at Pistol's Point.

New York, Oct. 16.—Between eighty and ninety passengers on the Voltorno were trapped in compartment No. 1 by the first explosion on the vessel on Thursday morning and either killed by the explosion or burned alive.

This news was brought to port with the docking of the steamship Grosser Kurfuerst, bearing 105 survivors of the disaster. It came from the lips of Waldron Disselman, third officer of the Voltorno, one of the rescued.

The Grosser Kurfuerst docked in Hoboken. Committees of the Red Cross, Jewish organizations and friends and relatives of the dead and living awaited her coming. Tea automobiles and an ambulance were on hand to bring the unfortunates to places of temporary refuge in Manhattan.

Everybody had a good word to say for the wonderful work of Captain Inch, the master of the ship, who directed the fight against the fire and would not leave for rest or nourishment until he was blinded by smoke and flame.

As the Grosser Kurfuerst nosed up the North river she was saluted with three whistles by all the craft that she passed. All of the survivors of the Voltorno had been housed in first cabin quarters and many of them had been furnished with new clothing by the passengers on the North German Lloyd liner.

The story of First Officer Disselman, of the Voltorno, of the disaster follows:

"At 4 o'clock on Thursday morning I was asleep when there came a tremendous explosion. I tumbled from my bunk and hurried out. Flames were spouting from the forward hatch and the ventilators and mounting forty feet in the air. The explosion was caused, I believe, by a cask of oil.

"Immediately we began to fight the fire in No. 1 hold. At the same time the wireless operators started to send out S. O. S. signals. Shortly afterward an answer came from the Carmania. The steward went about among the passengers, many of whom were panic-stricken, and reassured them with the word that the Carmania was speeding to our assistance.

"At 11 o'clock in the forenoon we felt that we had the flames under control and we hoped that we would be able to put the passengers off to other ships and bring the Voltorno to land safely.

"A few minutes later, however, the flames burst out with new fury, and our optimistic hopes changed to a fear that the ship would blow up. Of course we kept this apprehension from the passengers.

"Some of the stokers, I am sorry to say, lost their heads and had to be driven back to work at the points of revolvers.

"When the Carmania came alongside we were all filled with new hope. It almost broke our hearts when she failed to lower boats.

"Captain Inch showed most remarkable bravery. He continued in the forefront in the fight against the flames until he had been temporarily blinded. Then some of us had to pull him back.

"The first vessel of any kind to reach us was the tank steamer New York. She was not equipped with wireless, but had been passing and had seen the flames. The New York put out a small boat—a whale boat, I believe—and this frail craft was able to come alongside, but of course it was too small to be of any assistance to us.

Survivors of the Voltorno aboard the Grosser Kurfuerst were all men, steerage passengers, crew and a lone first cabin passenger. The Kurfuerst's doctor said none of the rescued had been ill and that all seemed to have recovered from their experience.

They were all, with one exception, without baggage, but they were allowed to land by order of the immigration authorities at Washington and were taken care of by various institutions.

TWO GREAT STARS.

Sirius Is the Brightest of All, and Canopus Comes Next.

The results of that instrument of precision, the meridian photometer, are that Sirius is seven-tenths of a magnitude brighter than Canopus, which easily teaches that Sirius is brighter than any other star.

Canopus, next in brilliancy, is visible from all that portion of the world south of north latitude 37 degrees, since its declination is south 53 degrees and 53 is the complement of 37.

It therefore never rises above the south horizon of any point 37 degrees north. The latitude of this observatory is 34 degrees 17 minutes; hence Canopus rises very nearly 3 degrees above the watery wastes in the Pacific sea. Its low altitude makes it much fainter than higher Sirius, as the light must traverse layers of dust and water vapor near the earth's surface. Still it is magnificent, especially when standing over a calm ocean surface.

Canopus has no parallax that the highest power telemicroscopes that can be made are able to measure. This is one of the most overwhelming facts within the entire range of human experience. This means that if one goes to Canopus with the most powerful telescope ever made, turns and looks back this way, the base line, the entire diameter of the orbit of the earth—187,704,000 miles—dwindles to a minute point too small to be measured by any microscope. Some idea may be had of the immensity of the universe by thinking of this fact during each spare minute. Better to so think than to waste the precious moments.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

PUPILS SAVE

Waynesboro Children Have Laid Aside Over $1500.

When the savings fund in the Waynesboro public schools was inaugurated, a year ago, there was uncertainty as to the favor with which it would meet with the pupils. It was not long, however, until it was demonstrated that the school boys and girls had adopted the plan very heartily. The savings fund was inaugurated Monday, October 28, 1912, and the money put into it that day by the town pupils amounted to $62.70. During the year the weekly deposits continued close to that figure. This year the sums put to the credit of the pupils each week are not so large the average amount received each Monday morning being $40. The fund, however, has grown to quite a large proportion and its total is now $1,500, which is drawing interest for the school children.

THE UNDERSTUDY

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

A train of cars stopped at a station. A young man came aboard and looked about for an empty seat. There was but one vacant, and he sat down in it beside a handsomely dressed, middle aged lady, who moved aside to make room for him, changing at the same time the position of certain articles of hand baggage.

"You are very kind," said the young man.

"Not at all," replied the lady. "I am simply not especially selfish."

"It is a case of selfishness that causes me to make this journey," remarked the young man.

"Indeed!" said the lady in a tone that seemed to invite further confidence.

"Yes. My sister is an actress. She has been an understudy for the leading lady at the theater with which she is connected. My sister has a natural talent for the kind of acting required in the part and became understudy for it, hoping that she might get an opportunity to play it and make a hit in it. She has already done so in private theatricals. But the leading lady has not been obliged to give over the part to her understudy once during the whole time she has been the understudy. I didn't wish Bess to go on the stage, and now that she has become discouraged by her long wait I have persuaded her to give up trying to be an actress and come home. If the leading lady would but give her one opportunity to show what she can do it is quite possible that Bess might get an engagement at a fine salary."

The lady listened to this with considerable interest and at the end said: "You didn't say with what theater your sister is connected."

"No. I have no wish to openly accuse her principal of selfishness."

"It doesn't matter. I am acquainted with a number of theatrical persons and know that Elizabeth Twining is understudy for the leading lady at the National, who plays under the stage name Helen Wadsworth, but who is really Miss Stanforth. I'm glad you have told me of this case of your sister. It puts the matter of an understudy in a different light from the way theatrical persons see it. They consider an understudy some one who is prepared to take a part in case the actor or actress must be temporarily laid off. They are a selfish lot, and I don't suppose it has occurred to this Helen Wadsworth that by giving up one night's profit she might enable your sister to make her fortune."

"If you know her I trust you will not mention what I have said."

"I do know her and, I thought, very well, but from what you say I have not known her as well as I supposed. I shall suggest to her to give your sister one night in which to play the leading part. She doubtless receives something like $500 for each performance, and, though the amount is considerable, it would be only about a sixth of her weekly income. The only excuse for her not having given way in favor of your sister is that the purchasers of tickets pay to see Helen Wadsworth and not Elizabeth Twining."

"I never thought of that," said the young man.

"If it is an excuse it is a poor one."

Young Twining was very much pleased with his encounter and what it promised. The lady did not say that she would secure his sister the opportunity she desired, but she intended to try. Twining begged her to approach the subject gingerly, to which she readily agreed, assuring him that on no account would she make any trouble. However, she cautioned him against raising any hopes in his sister that might not be realized.

Twining arrived in the city in the morning, and the same evening word was sent to the manager that Helen Wadsworth had taken a cold and her voice had become so husky that she would not be able to play her part that night. Miss Twining, who expected at the end of the week to go home with her brother, was hopeful that her going might not now be necessary.

She hardly did herself justice, being agitated at assuming so important a role. But Helen Wadsworth sent word that she would doubtless be confined to her room for several days and perhaps longer, so the understudy had more opportunity. On the second night she did her best, making a pronounced hit, which was maintained in the other performances. Then Helen Wadsworth returned to her work.

On the last night that Elizabeth Twining played the principal part, after being called before the curtain again and again, she found an invitation in her dressing room to sup with Helen Wadsworth and bring her brother, who, the hostess had heard, was with her. The two were driven to the hotel where the actress was stopping, expecting to find her with her throat wrapped in flannels. But she advanced to meet them with no signs of illness and with an extended hand for Mr. Twining.

She was the woman he had met on the train.

"Permit me to thank you," she said, "for showing me that selfishness in myself that I have previously seen only in others."

Elizabeth Twining soon after secured an engagement for a leading part, and Helen Wadsworth took another understudy.

PRINCE ARTHUR.

He Wedded Duchess of Fife
Before Royalty in London.

DUCHESS WEDDED TO PRINCE ARTHUR

Simplicity Marks Royal Marriage in London.

London, Oct. 16.—Remarkable simplicity for a royal ceremonial characterized the wedding of Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Duchess of Fife in the Chapel Royal of the St. James palace.

With such a setting of ornate decorations and richly painted ceiling as the quaint old room presents, with the uniforms of the men of the royal family and court officials, and the jewels worn by the ladies, the ceremony itself had a tinge of the spectacular. The wedding gifts are valued at $750,000.

Among the diplomats present were Ambassador Walter H. Page and Mrs.
Page. The ambassador was dressed in plain evening clothes and was the only person there who wore neither a decoration nor a uniform.

The chapel glittered with diamonds
and pearls, and almost every woman present wore a tiara and necklace of fabulous value.

King George gave away the bride, while the princess royal, mother of the bride, supported her at the altar. The bridegroom's supporters were his father, the Duke of Connaught, and the Prince of Wales.

The archbishop of Canterbury conducted the marriage service, assisted by the bishop of London and Canon Edgar Sheppard, who are dean and sub-dean of the Chapel Royal.

During the ceremony the king and queen occupied gilded chairs on a raised dais directly facing the altar and close behind the bride and bridegroom.

AMERICAN BALLOON WINS

Goodyear Is Victor In Flight For the James Gordon Bennett Cup.

Paris, Oct. 16.—The American balloon Goodyear was officially declared the winner of the international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett cup.

All doubt as to its victory was set at rest when it was learned that the Austrian balloon, Frankfurt, had landed at Sonzell, Brittany. Next year's race will be held in the United States.

When the Goodyear left Paris the weather was hazy and there was scarcely any wind. The balloon drifted across central France slowly in the direction of the English channel. The aeronauts sighted Southampton Wednesday morning.

ENVOYS TAKE UP CRISIS IN MEXICO

Diplomats in Mexico City Continue on Dictatorship.

WILSON SENT SHARP NOTE

President Notifies Huerta That Any
New Administration Elected Oct. 26
Will Not Be Recognized by U. S.

Washington, Oct. 16.—No reply was received at the state department from the Mexican government to either of the communications sent to President Huerta from Washington.

It was intimated that this government is no longer expecting a reply to either of these notes, and it is hinted that this lies in the fact that steps were taken by Mr. O'Shaughnessy to head off a response.

It is known that on Tuesday the Mexican cabinet busied itself with drafting a reply to the first note from Washington regarding the safety of the deputies, which was pronounced in Mexico City as of intemperate language. Advance information was received in Washington that this reply was to be a very sharp retort to the United States.

With the visit to the Mexican foreign office by Charge O'Shaughnessy, however, the preparation of the reply suddenly ceased. What passed is not being made public in Washington, but it has been plainly indicated that this government no longer expects Huerta to make any response to either of the notes sent him from Washington. It is thought possible that a reply may be sent later.

Much significance is attached to the meeting of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City upon the call of the Spanish minister, dean of that body since the retirement of Henry Lane Wilson.
All the members of the diplomatic corps are in accord with President Wilson so far as their attitude in regard to the imprisoned deputies is concerned.

The greatest perplexity is admitted by high officials as to what is going to happen next in Mexico. It is not even known whether Huerta intends to go ahead with the elections or not.

Plans for keeping an American naval force in Mexican waters also commanded attention, in view of the strained situation following so closely Huerta's announcement that his government's permission for the presence of American men-of-war would not be renewed this month, and the announcement of this government's intention to accomplish this end without conflicting with the laws of Mexico by changing the details of ships.

It was made plain that the Washington government was determined to have naval representation ready for any eventuality, and some observers thought the next step toward a culmination of the situation might be forced over that point.

There is greater anxiety in administration circles now than at any time since the arrival of John Lind, President Wilson's special envoy, in Mexico. It is feared, because of acts in Washington and Mexico City, that a positive rupture may prove unavoidable.

President Wilson followed up his sharp note of Monday, which practically demanded that the lives of the imprisoned deputies be safeguarded by Huerta, and which Foreign Minister Mohen declared to be "intemperate," with a second note. It was much more severe in its terms and notified the Mexican government that any new administration set up as a result of election on Oct. 26 would not be recognized by the United States government.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS

Lawful to Kill Squirrels, Quail, Pheasants and Grouse Until Nov. 30.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 16.—The real fall hunting season opened in Pennsylvania yesterday, when it became legal to kill squirrels, pheasants, including the ruffed grouse, Hungarian quail and woodcock.

The seasons for several of these varieties of game were changed by the last legislature.

The season for Chinese, Mongolian, ring-necked and ruffed pheasants runs from Oct. 15 to Nov. 30, both days being included. Squirrels, fox, gray or black, may be killed for the same period, six of the combined kinds being allowed in one day. The woodcock season is the same. Woodcock and ruffed grouse may not be bought or sold, no matter where killed.

The quail season will begin Nov. 1
and run until Dec. 14, while the deer season begins Nov. 19 and lasts for a period of fifteen days.

Shot in Mistake For Squirrel.

Bedford, Pa., Oct. 16.—Mistaking the gray cap of Harry M. Diehl, a cigar maker, of Wolfburg, for a squirrel, a careless hunter from Ebensburg caused the first accident of the season. A quantity of buckshot knocked Diehl
from the log where he sat, badly wounding him in the face and narrowly missing his eyes and causing painful wounds in the upper part of his body.

Foss to Run as Independent.

Boston, Oct. 16.—Governor Eugene
N. Foss, of Massachusetts, three times elected as a Democrat, filed nomination papers as an independent candidate for re-election.

DON'T forget the administrator's

AMEND OLD PRAYER BOOK

Episcopalians Also Denounce Russian
Ritual Murder Trial.

New York, Oct. 16.—The ritual murder
trial at Kiev, Russia, was condemned in a resolution adopted by the house of deputies, the joint clerical and lay body of the Protestant Episcopal church, at the triennial general convention.

The committee on prayer book of the house of deputies reported favorably on a proposal to amend the third collect in the Good Friday service by omitting the words "all Hebrews, infidelis, Turks and heretics" from the general prayer for humanity.

Consideration of the committee's report was postponed, however, to permit discussion regarding a further amendment which proposed that this prayer be offered for "the ancient Hebrews and all atheists."

In presenting the resolution regarding the Kiev trial, Rev. Dr. William F. Manning, rector of Trinity church,
New York, said:

"Hebrews in this city are deeply moved by this matter. Hebrew brethren have asked me to bring before this convention a protest, voicing the sentiments contained in a petition signed in England by the archbishop of Canterbury and by many bishops, clergy
and laymen of the church."

The resolution said:
"We call upon the archbishops,
bishops and other members of the Holy Orthodox Eastern Church of Russia to make formal pronouncement that the charges of so-called 'ritual murders' are without foundation or justification in the teachings and practice of the religion of Israel."

"We remind them that in the early days of Christianity similar charges were made by ignorance and superstition against our own most holy religion."

BELIEVE THAW WILL NOT BE EXTRADITED

It is Said Members of Grand Jury Visited Him.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 16.—Representatives of Harry K. Thaw predicted that a secret conference which they held in his rooms would have a marked effect on the extradition proceedings.

Three strangers, said to be members of the Dutchess county, N. Y., grand jury, were closeted with Thaw for over five hours. It is said they told Thaw what actually took place in the grand jury room where William Travers Jerome claims an indictment was returned against Thaw.

During the conference Merrill Shurtleft and Nathaniel E. Martin, his legal aides, were sent for by Thaw, and they interrogated the visitors.

It is believed that if Governor Felker is convinced that Jerome misrepresented matters regarding the returning of the indictment, the governor would refuse to grant the extradition papers and Thaw will be set free.

TWO DIE IN BURNING HOME

Mother Eaves One, Father Two, But Others Smothered.

Loeust Gap, Pa., Oct. 16.—Raymond and Michael Heffron, fifteen and eleven years old, respectively, were smothered to death in their home
when fire partly destroyed the house.
Five others narrowly escaped death.

Thomas Heffron, his wife and five children were asleep when the fire started. He awoke first and found the second floor full of smoke ascending from the first floor. As he leaped from bed a sheet of flame swept the landing of the second floor.

Mrs. Heffron awoke as her husband uttered a warning cry. He grabbed two children and plunged through the flames to the street, his wife dropped her daughter, Winifred, from the second floor to the sidewalk. The child's arm was broken.

Before her husband could re-enter the flaming building or she could reach the other children they were smothered to death. Mrs. Heffron escaped down the burning stairway.

Lamar Forfeits $3000 Bond.

New York, Oct. 16.—David Lamar, the Wall street manipulator under indictment for impersonating congressmen and others, failed to appear before Judge Hunt in the federal district court for pleading. His bond of $3000 was declared forfeited.

WHAT GETTYSBURG WANTS TO KNOW

The Answer Is Found in the Statement of a Gettysburg Resident.

From week to week, from year to year, there have been appearing in these columns statements made by neighbors, which we have all read with great interest, and many of us with great profit. But what we want to know is, do they stand the greatest test of all—the test of time? Here is conclusive evidence on this point from a Gettysburg woman:

Mrs. C. Culp, 423 Washington St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "We still use Doan's Kidney Pills in our family and find them very good. One of the family had an attack of kidney complaint after the measles and was left with very weak kidneys. He also had back-ache and pains in his sides and whenever he lifted, he was in distress. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended and he gave them a trial. I never thought a medicine could give relief so quickly. We recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone who is troubled with kidney complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agent for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TRAVELING LIBRARIES.

Grange Scheme That Has Worked Out Successfully in Ohio.

The grange traveling library is a feature of education work in some states that is proving very valuable. Our attention was recently directed to such a library scheme in a county in Ohio where the various granges of the county have formed a library association, the officers of which are a superintendent of librarians and the librarian of each grange that owns a library. The libraries cost $12 each, and each grange in the association has one library in its possession all the time. Each grange has control of its own library, can buy or sell books, provided the value of the library is not allowed to fall below $12. It is the duty of the librarian to keep a record of the books, the cost of each volume and the number of times each book has been drawn from the library. On these various matters he reports to the superintendent of librarians every three months. It is the duty of the latter officer to present the subject of libraries to each grange in the county, asking those not members of the library association if they will purchase a library and become members, or, in case they are already in the association, if they will add new books to their library. Care is taken that there be no duplicates among the books. This seems to be a very feasible working plan for a grange to have the benefit of the reading of a large number of books during the year at a very slight expense, and it is to be commended to granges everywhere.

Line fences seldom prove a source of trouble when the men owning the land on either side are willing to be on the square and to treat the fellow on the other side as he would have the fellow on the other side treat him.
